About Toro Cloud

Our mission at Toro Cloud is to enable our customers to focus more on their core business rather than the software solutions that enable their business. We believe that an enterprise shouldn't need to become a software company in order to provide the products and services that make them unique. Most enterprises have a product or service that is backed by a proprietary collection of systems, processes, and knowledge. However, the modern digital economy requires that an enterprise be able to communicate with customers, business partners, and even employees digitally.

This digital transformation of an enterprise typically requires significant effort from the IT department to build the digital products and services that their stakeholders are demanding. Toro Cloud enables the digital transformation of an enterprise, and deliver digital solutions at speed, without ever requiring them to become a software company in the process.

Digital transformation requires that an enterprise become an agile organization that delivers digital products and services at speed.

Target Market

Toro Cloud's target market of mid-sized enterprises is particularly challenged with digital transformation initiatives. These organizations often face the same logistical complexities of a large enterprise but must work with fewer resources.

Our Beliefs

Transparency — We don't believe in beating around the bush. You'll always have clear access to our pricing, services and solutions.

Fairness — Whether your organisation is big or small, you'll always have access to enterprise-class solutions.

Accessibility — Our API centric low code platforms are designed so all businesses can make the most of their data.

Innovation — We're always looking for new ways to improve our products and services to deliver better solutions.
